

There is no second chance to make a first impression

Despite general tourist information provided around Florence, visitors to the city often struggle to find specific services or events. We invite you to join us in informing the city's visitors by becoming a distribution partner of our publication.

The Florentine will allow you to provide your guests with a convenient and valuable resource so that they waste no time in discovering exactly what they are looking for from their Florence experience. By presenting them with our dynamic and complete view of the city, you will play an integral role in connecting your guests with information most relevant to their stay in Florence.

Through your affiliation with The Florentine, you will undoubtedly reap the benefits of the English-speaking visitor who feels immediately welcomed and equipped to discover the heart of Florentine and Tuscan culture.
